

Conflict Minerals Policy Statement

Introduction

“Conflict Minerals” refers to Gold, Casserite (Tin), Columbite-tantalite (Tantalum), and Wolframite (Tungsten) or their derivatives mined in “Covered Countries”, which include the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC) and in the adjoining countries (Angola, Burundi, Central African Republic, Republic of the Congo, Rwanda, South Sudan, Tanzania, Uganda and Zambia). They are referred to as “Conflict Minerals” because revenues arising from their extraction and processing may be directly or indirectly financing armed groups engaged in civil war resulting in serious social and environmental abuse in the Covered Countries. In 2010, the U.S. Congress passed the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act, pursuant to which the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) issued rules requiring publicly listed companies in the United States to make disclosures under specific circumstances concerning the use of “Conflict Minerals”.

Overview

Hohman Plating & Mfg., LLC (“Hohman Plating” or the “Company”) fully supports the humanitarian goals of the Dodd-Frank Act. As a plating manufacturer for the Aerospace and Defense industry, Hohman Plating may purchase raw Conflict Minerals from multiple sources. Hohman Plating is nonetheless committed to working with its suppliers to educate them on these matters and on steps they can take to obtain increased transparency regarding the origin of Conflict Minerals contained in the products or materials they sell to Hohman Plating.

This Policy Statement reflects Hohman Plating’s commitment and its expectations for its product and raw material suppliers regarding the use of Conflict Minerals.

Our Commitment:

- Support the objectives of the Dodd-Frank Act concerning Conflict Minerals sourcing.
- Hohman Plating will not knowingly procure products containing Conflict Minerals that originate from facilities in the Covered Countries that are not certified as “DRC Conflict Free”.
- Hohman Plating will take reasonable steps to ensure compliance with this Policy Statement and applicable rules and regulations related to Conflict Minerals, and we will ask our suppliers to undertake reasonable due diligence with their supply chains to assure that any Conflict Minerals in products supplied to Hohman Plating either did not originate in the Covered Countries or are “DRC Conflict Free”.

Supplier Code of Conduct with Regards to Conflict Minerals

Hohman Plating has the following expectations of its suppliers:

- Suppliers should not include any Conflict Minerals in any products sold to Hohman Plating unless such Conflict Minerals either did not originate in Covered Countries or are DRC Conflict Free;
- Suppliers are required to report any Conflict Minerals that may be contained in the products or raw materials they supply to Hohman Plating and either confirm the source of the Conflict Minerals or undertake reasonable due diligence to identify the country of origin of the Conflict Minerals;
- Suppliers should develop Conflict Mineral policies, due diligence frameworks, and management systems that are reasonably designed to prevent Conflict Minerals from being included in the products or materials sold to Hohman Plating unless such Conflict Minerals either did not originate in Covered Countries or are DRC Conflict Free; and
- Hohman Plating's suppliers are expected to source Conflict Minerals only from sources outside of the Covered Countries or that are DRC Conflict Free.

Accordingly, Hohman Plating's Suppliers will be expected to:

- Implement and communicate to their personnel and suppliers policies that are consistent with this Policy Statement;
- Establish procedures for the traceability of Conflict Minerals, working with their suppliers to track the Conflict Minerals through the supply chain to the country of origin;
- Use reasonable efforts to source Conflict Minerals from countries other than the Covered Countries or from smelters and refiners validated as being "DRC Conflict Free";
- Advise Hohman Plating of the presence of Conflict Minerals in products it sells or has sold to Hohman Plating and any determination that the supplier either has concluded or has a reasonable basis to believe that products it currently sells or has sold to Hohman Plating are not "DRC Conflict Free".
- Maintain reviewable business records supporting the sourcing of any Conflict Minerals contained in products sold to Hohman Plating; and
- At its request, provide Hohman Plating with information concerning the origin of Conflict Minerals included in products sold to Hohman Plating, which Hohman Plating shall be entitled to use or disclose in satisfying any legal or regulatory requirements or in any customer or marketing communications, notwithstanding the terms of any confidentiality agreements that do not specifically reference this paragraph.

Consequences of Supplier Non-Compliance

Hohman Plating monitors and evaluates its relationships with its suppliers on an ongoing basis. Hohman Plating reserves the right to evaluate the extent to which a supplier has failed to reasonably comply with this Policy Statement and reserves the right to request additional documentation from its suppliers regarding the origin of any Conflict Minerals included in any products sold to Hohman Plating. Suppliers who do not reasonably comply with this Policy Statement will be reviewed by Hohman Plating's supply chain organization in order to determine whether they will be allowed to continue to do business with Hohman Plating and whether any necessary remedial steps must be taken to be allowed to continue as a supplier to Hohman Plating and its business units.

Grievance Mechanism and Reporting

Interested parties may report concerns and alleged violations of this Policy Statement as follows:

- Write us at: Hohman Plating & Mfg., LLC, Attn: Conflict Minerals Team, 814 Hillrose Ave., Dayton, OH 45404, USA
